Wall street had its usual Saturday night natinee. The performers were Billio Suns, leggy Hasson, George Yarnall and John Jenkins, in which Yarnall and Hasson were pretty roughly used, particularly the former.

Saturday night these offenders were nominally the City Health Board, who immediately noti- put under arrest by a Constable, but instead of locking them up as he should have done, he merely notified them to appear in his Court Monday morning, thus leaving them free to continue their carousal and defy law, order and decency.

Biscoe Hindman, Esq., Manager Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, United States Trust Building, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sir: I am more than pleased with the dividend carned on my $5,000 policy which I took out lifteen years ago in the Mutual Life of New York, and I am ontirely satisfied with the several options I find the three principal options to be as

3. I can draw out the accumulated dividends in cash, $1,142.20, together with the guaranteod reserve on the policy amounting to $2,-822.95, thereby making a total cash surrender value of $3,965.15.

I now beg to advise you of my acceptance of option No. 2, namely, a paid up policy for $5,000 and cash $1,142.20.

I am just settling another policy on exactly the same plan and takon out about the same time in another company, and it is only just to shows that the dividends which have been carned for me amount to nearly 10% more in cash than those earned by the other company, and you are at liberty to use this letter in any way you see fit. THE LINEN SAI.F.

Begins Wednesday, the third and will last ten days. In quality, quantity and low price it will be the biggest and best Linen Sale ever held in Maysville. To do better than we have in the past may seem impossible. But you don't know us. That word impossible simply puts us on our mettle. We determined months ago that our First Linen Sale in the New Store should outclass every record made here. We have worked unceasingly with that in view and it has meant work,

We have secured assistance for this movement from manufacturers who had reason to favor us, we have scoured Eastern and Western markets for bargains. We have reached out like an octopus for every unusual value in the wholesale market. On every line we are selling at the closest margin, on some we have arbitrarily sacrificed all profit. Wednesday our doors will open on a presentation of Table Linens, Towels and Towelings that has never been matched in Maysville for quantity, quality and low price. Details in tomorrow's paper.

"It is the law of American politics that no man can make iduself a candidate for President, and no man can prevent himself from being a candidate for President."From a statement made by the tate James G.

Those papers that are satisfied because "Kentucky is for Roosevelt," are respectfully reminded that Kentucky was for Harrison too. The rest is history.

A rew years ago, says the Louisville Post, we revised the Kentucky Constitution chiefly to wipe out the word slavery, for the thing itself had been dead for a quarter of a century. Now we would take a backward step and write into the Constitution a grandfather clause, making the ballot an inherited privilege for white men who cannot read and write.

Let us not adopt this subterfuge. Let us declare openly that we intend to establish in Kentucky an educational qualification and take the consequences whatever they are.

That is usually Kentucky's way, and in this matter that is the best way. It may exclude from the franchise some white men fit to vote. but all restrictions do that, even the age restriction, and it is made for the good of society.

An educational qualification would do credit to the state; it would aid the cause of education; it would exclude the illiterates.

The illiterate population of Kentucky ten years and over is 16.5. In 1890 it was 21.6. In 1880 it was 29.9.

But the proportion of illiterates of the white population is only 13.9, while that of the black

Taking the proportion and applying it to he voters, a plain educational qualification vould disfranchise fourteen white voters out of hundred, whereas it would disfranchise forty placks out of a hundred.

The "grandfather clause" then is to be inseited to protect these fourteen white men. The game is surely not worth the candle. We make in Kentucky the "grandfather chase" absurd. We place ourselves below the blackridden states of the South. We proclaim to the world that Kentucky stoops to injustice - to avoid black domination. We turn back the coming laborer and the coming capital, for choth fear the black belt.

On the contrary, if we adopt the educational qualification we put ourselves at the head of the progressive states, elevating the suffrage and educating our citizenship.

Between these two courses Kentucky should not hesitate.

DAMAGE SUIT INDUSTRY.

Lexington Herald.

According to official reports from railway managements says The Manufacturers Record, 4,171 miles of new railroad construction is planned for the coming year in the South and Southwest.

Of that construction, 993 miles are planned for Texas. How much greater the proposed mileage might be in that great state awaiting the extension of transportation lines, and, perhaps, in other states, is a question raised by a letter from Mr. Charles Hamilton of Waco, Tex., Vice-President and General Manager of the Texas Central Railroad Company. Mr. Hamilton has written quite forcibly before on the subject of the embarassments to which railroads in Texas are subject, and in this letter he writes:

"I would suggest that Southern development, particularly as it applies to Texas, can be more rapidly advanced than at present by disposing of the demagogue, by eliminating the alleged lawyers who live by looking up and monufacturing take claims against railroad companies, and by educating Jurors to recognize the sacredness of an

Mr. Hamilton is not the only Texan who is alive to the injury done the material interests of the state by the loss and annoyance caused the railroads through the countenance given shysters in Courts of law. In a recent charge to the Federal Grand Jury at Fort Worth Judge Meek dwelt quite strongly on that point. He called attention to the biw against barratry passed by the Legislature in 1901 and said that it had peculiar application to attorneys who are engaged in the phase of practice known as "personal injury litigation," and while recognizing that it was not within the province of the Federal Court to enforce the criminal laws of the states, he insisted that for the protection of the integrity of its own proceedings it was the bounden duty of the Court to prevent the appearance at its bar of attorneys who had violated the criminal laws of the state in the very causes in which they presume

He argued that the law against harratry had been passed because of the pernicious activity and professional depravity of certain lawyers, and he gave this wholesome

"Every person admitted to practice at this Bar takes solemn oath that he will demean himself as an attorney and counselor of this Court uprightly and according to the law. If in the practice of his profession iclawyer forgets the high obligations that rest upon him, lacking moral stamina and worth, stoops to solicit employment in a suit at law or in equity, or debases himself and his profession by giving money or something of value for such employment, he violates the oath he has taken and he should be disbarred and his name stricken from the rolls of this Court. The profession of law should possess within itself the inclination and power for self-cleansing and self-purification through proper and effective organization. There is a noticeable absence of effective organization of the profession for such purposes at most Burs in Texas. Such absence occasions the necessity of my placing upon you, gentlemen, this unusual labor. I feel called upon to charge you thus because of the rumors that constantly come to me of the practices of some altorneysnt-law in procuring employment, especially in personal injury litigation. These matters should be investigated, and if the evidence adduced before you shows to your satisfaction personal solicitation on the part of an attorney of employment in any suit at law or in equity, to prosecute or defend the same, or if it shows that he has procared another to solicit for him employment in any such cause, or if it shows that he has given any person from whom such employment is sought money or other things of value, or has, directly or indirectly, paid the debts or liabilities of such person, or if it shows that he has loaned or promised to give or otherwise grant money or other things of value to the person from whom such employment is sought, then you will make report to the Court, setting forth the name of the attorney found guilty of such conduct, the style of the cause pending in which such conduct took place and his acts therein committed which you deem to be a transgression of the law herein set forth. I will see that proper and appropriate steps are taken upon the coming in of any report."

This is a charge applicable to conditions in other states beside Texas. It is a strong arraignment of the damage suit industry thriving upon corporations in general, and in particular upon the railroad corporations, and successful through a combination of abuses in drawing Juries, whereby important cases are settled by a vote of representatives of the lack of intelligence in the community, and of the crass disregard of professional and personal decencies and violation of solemn oaths by lawyers, theorelically officers of the Courts. This class of attorneys in many communities are readily distinguished.

Maysville Man Affected in That Very Peculiar Manner

By his friends Martin Gnilfoyle is classed as a dismond in the rough, somewhat of a philosopher as well as a wit.

Martin, having arrived at the age of mellow manhood, a period in life when deep meditation is somewhat of a solaco und one's thoughts are more given over to a speculation as to the heroafter, he one day communed with himself and arrived at the conclusion that his days were numbered among the living and the time of his departure an uncertain and unknown quautity; hoace it was his duty as a good husband and loving father to make provisions for the love I ones he would be compelled to leave behind. Having made up his mind as to the proper course to pursue he wended his way to a life inenrance office and asked for a policy on his life calling for a liboral amount.

The agent was only too glad to comply with the request, as he considered Martin a splendid risk.

After filling up the necessary blank he was taken across the way for a medical examination. After the Doctor had measured his chest expaneioa, thumped his ribs and sounded his heart.

"Why, Martin, you have a splendid physique. You have never had trouble with your heart at any time, have you?" asked the Doctor.

"Oh yes, Doctor," replied Martin.

"Why, how is that, it is perfectly sound now." "Well, Doctor, to tell you the truth, my heart has nlways been too big for my salary.

RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL

Mrs. Rem's Letter and Advice to Mothers, Published by Request of Mr. Pecor.

Mrs. Reno says: "Our daughter Marion was troubled with indigestion; she hecamo fretful, coald not sleep at night, lost flesh, and we feared that we should lose her. We tried different doctors, and many kinds of medicines, with ac apparent success, until we triod Vinol. Two bettles curod our little daughter; she can out anything, sleeps well and has gained flesh. We think it is the best medicine in the world for children. I advise every mother who has an ailing child to try Vinol. 1 know nothing equals it, and it tastes so good there is no trouble in getting children to take it."

A reportor of the Public Ledger asked Mr. Pecor of this city, who is selling so much Vinol, regarding it. Mr. Pecor assnred the writer that this is only one of a great many such cases that are coastantly coming to his attention where Vinol has actually saved the lives of children when all else had failed. "You know, of course," said Mr. Pecor, "Vinol is not a patent medicine, and it contains all the medicinal, curntivo elements of cod liver oil, without the uauseating oil; it is delicious to take, and will make rich, pure, red blood, sound set as her date for leaving Pittsburgh. fleeh, and muscle tissno, and create strength and health more surely and quickly than anything we have ever cold in our ctore.
